TERSE TALES OF THE TOWN

County Court—
The March term of the county court convened yesterday, and the court passed upon a number of routine matters.

Called To South Bend—
Rev. G. E. Rydquist, of the Memorial Lutheran church was called to South Bend yesterday to perform two wedding ceremonies. (The pastor returned last evening having performed his duty to the satisfaction of all concerned.)

Meets Today—
The Ladies Aid Society of the Memorial Lutheran church will be entertained this afternoon by Mrs. Chas. Sanders at her home, 440 Fifth street near Harrison. Members and friends cordially invited.

In Probate Court—
In the matter of the estate of John Smith, deceased, an order was made in probate court yesterday to show cause if any why the real estate should not be sold. The date for the hearing was set on March 15. Otto Olson is the administrator.

In Circuit Court—
In circuit court yesterday the following were passed upon: Sarah M. Smith vs. G. A. Smith, order of publication of summons; Daisy M. McCarty vs. Edward L. McCarty, default and decree of divorce; Alice Robertson vs. Ray Robertson, decree of divorce.

Withdraws From Business—
Henry Zapf has withdrawn from the well known furniture concern of the Nelson Furniture Company, at 504 Bond street and leaves the business solely in the hands of Morton Nelson, who will conduct it in the future upon the plan that has already built it to a paying and popular house.

Piano Recital—
Under the auspices of the Epworth League Miss Hattie Wise will give a piano recital at the Methodist Episcopal church on Tuesday evening, March 16, and the event promises to be a very fine one. Miss Wise has an enviable reputation as an excellent pianist and doubtless many will be glad of the opportunity to listen to such a musical treat. Mrs. A. A. Finch, whose singing is always delightful, will assist.

Big Dance—Logan's Hall—March 6 Pacific Orchestra.

Denies Any Connection—
W. E. Schimpff, general manager of the Northern Pacific Brewery, came to the Astorian office yesterday and vigorously denied that his brewery had any connection with the Owl saloon; and also stated that the Northern Pacific Brewery had not in any manner endorsed or recommended the application for a license for this saloon.

Talk On Korea—
Last evening at the First Presbyterian church an intensely interesting talk was made to a large audience by Dr. Hall, on the civic and social condition of Korea, a novel and attractive subject which is rarely heard of here, and especially from one so intimately associated with the strange people on the other side of the Pacific.

The Idle Half-Hour—
The Astorian's casual half-hour (the citizen's, not the paper's), is never better, nor more interestingly spent than when it is put in at the Jewel, the Grand, the Bungalow, or the Bakeronian. All of these houses are putting on decidedly interesting bills every other day. Their offerings are clean, wholesome, attractive, and compensating, in every particular and the people appreciate them, as is proven by the unremitting patronage that is given each and all of them.

Gives Up Astoria Classes—
Dr. Emil Enna, the well known pianist and composer, was in the city yesterday for the first time in several weeks, and for the last time in the capacity of teacher, since he has turned the local classes over to Miss Hattie Wise of this city, and will confine his work to the accumulating interests in his line at Portland, and will at an early day give an original composition recital in that city. He returned to the metropolis last night.

Mr. Laws Very Low—
J. N. Laws, who has been seriously ill, is now reported to be in a precarious condition and fears are entertained of his recovery. Dr. Fulton, who is the physician in charge, said last night that Mr. Laws has been quite sick for several months and that the operation recently performed at the hospital when a portion of one of the ribs was taken out, did not strike at the seat of the trouble. Kidney troubles seem to be undermining his strength and he may not recover. Mr. Laws has long been one of the leading citizens of Astoria and his very many friends will regret to learn of his serious condition.

May Have Had Pal—
Nordstrom, the Tillamook murderer, is now supposed to have had as a pal the man who brutally killed the chief engineer of the steam schooner Washington at Portland several months ago. At all events the presumed murderer of the engineer is said to have been on the Condor for a time when Nordstrom was also on the vessel. Whoever the murderer of the engineer was he apparently has made his escape for good.

Lyrain Society—
The mixed chorus "Lyrain" singing society, which has been organized almost a year and numbers about 25 members, will give its first public concert on next Sunday afternoon. The concert will be given at Chinook and the steamer Miller has been chartered for the occasion. A fine program has been prepared which will be a credit to Mr. Olin, its leader, and to every member on its roll. Miss Esther Sundquist will accompany the choir as violinist.

Off For Portland—
In conformity with plans which have been maturing for some time, Otto Heilborn leaves this morning for the metropolis, where he will join Mrs. Heilborn and settle down in business, the nature of which has not yet been revealed to his friends here. Mr. Heilborn goes with the abundant good will of a long retinue of friends in Astoria, who knowing him well as business man, clubman, and around good-fellow, will wish him unqualified and unceasing good fortune in his new field of endeavor.

Case In Equity—
A case in equity with Judge McBride sitting as chancellor was commenced yesterday wherein John Hahn is suing the Astoria National Bank for the recovery of a sum of money which he alleges is due him. The suit arises out of a loan once made by the bank to the Warrenton Lumber Company, which gave a mortgage therefor on its property. Mr. Hahn was then a director of the bank and he advanced a sum of money into the deal, out of which the suit now arises. W. C. Bristol, of Portland, is attorney for the plaintiff, while Mr. Fulton is defending.

Lecture Room—
At St. Mary's hospital a fine lecture room has been fitted up in readiness for the nurses' college which will open there in April. It is now definitely settled that the classes will be commenced in the early part of next month and practically everything is now in readiness. There is room for a few more nurses, and those who intend to apply will do well to get their applications in very soon or it may prove too late. The corps of instructors will be announced later. The lecture room is on the first floor and is light and airy, facing on the north.

Goes Into Real Estate—
As others come into the city to take up their new-found interests and citizenship, a new find it necessary to depart to other fields where something better offers allurements for the time. The latest to decide to change his habitat and business is Al Johnson, who with his family will leave today for Portland, where he goes into the real estate business on his own account. He does not fancy leaving Astoria a little bit, and will come back the first moment he realizes the expediency and he does not expect to wait very long for it, either. There are hosts of people here who will be sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. Johnson depart and who will be equally glad to see them return. He cannot prosper any too well to suit his Astoria friends.

A Cooking Sale.
The ladies of the First M. E. church will hold an apron, home-cooking and candy sale in the lecture room of the church at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Friday, March 5. There will be light refreshments and all are cordially invited to be present.

Hard Times Dance.
At Knappton, Saturday, March 6th. Steamer Julia B. leaves Lurline dock at 8:15 p. m. Fare, 50 cents round trip. Music by Columbia Orchestra.

The Man Who Eats.
The man who eats does so with the expectation of being satisfied. To this end he seeks the best possible place to gratify his normal appetite at most rational expense. These things account for the steady stream of people to and from the portals of the Palace Restaurant in this city. The reputation of the Palace is founded immovably upon the certainty and amplitude of the service it renders to every purse, and appetite, big and little. Open day and night. Commercial streets, opposite the Page building.

Big Dance—Logan's Hall—March 6 Pacific Orchestra.

May Deport Her—
Kim Toy, the Chinese woman who was recently arrested in this city in male attire, as she was about to be taken out in the river in a launch, is now in the custody of the immigration authorities at Portland on a warrant charging her with being unlawfully in the United States. The Federal authorities state that they have evidence tending to establish that the Chinese woman illegally entered this country a number of years ago, and if this is substantiated she will be deported by the government. Kim Toy, who is said to be the chattel of one of the members of the On Hing Company, of Portland, was abducted by Jung Sing, a member of the highbinder faction of the Bow On Tong, two weeks ago last Friday, and rushed to Astoria in a launch, after first being forced to don male attire. The latest development in the case has created much excitement in Portland's Chinatown, as slave girls are generally valued at $2000, and Kim Toy's deportation will cause the loss of that amount by her owner.

Beggars In Town—
Two beggars have been making the rounds of the residence district for the past ten days, off and on, one of whom is more or less of a cripple. In one place where one of the men was given food he was watched and as he went around the corner he threw the food away. At another place one of the little girls, acting under the instruction of her mother, told the man that her mother was not at home, but as he was going away he caught a glimpse of the mother and in anger he at once started to run after the little girl, but she managed to elude him. When only the women of the house is to be found the men become very bold, and some of the ladies not unnaturally become frightened and give money rather than run the danger of arousing the ire of the beggars. What should be done, of course, is to telephone for the police, as in all probability the charity is a misplaced one and begging is forbidden by the ordinance.

Murderer Known Here—
Adolph Nordstrom, the murderer of John Peterson at Tillamook, is thought to be very well known in this city. A man by the same name and answering the description of the Tillamook murderer, has several times been arrested by the local police on minor charges and less than three weeks ago was in the lower end of the city. Several of the saloon men there say that he left here between two and three weeks ago and it is probable he went to Tillamook from here. Once he was arrested here on a charge of shooting off his rifle in a room over the Cosy Corner saloon, and another time he threatened a "gun play" in the Anchor saloon, when the barkeeper took his weapon from him. He was suspected of a recent robbery here but it was not possible to fasten the crime on him. He is now in the county jail at Tillamook, and he has confessed to the brutal crime. He worked on the Condor for a time, and in several of the saloons here as a swamper. The murdered man was a brother of Gustaf A. Peterson, road master of the A. & C.

PERSONAL MENTION
W. O. Slade, son of the well known conductor for the A. E. Company, John S. Slade, departed yesterday morning for Celano, Ohio, to visit an aunt, the sister of his mother, who is reported to be in failing health. General Superintendent J. H. Walker of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co. at Oregon City, was a business visitor in this city yesterday. Captain Stuart, of the Cape Disappointment life saving service was in the city yesterday on a business trip. Edward Joseph came over from Altoona yesterday on a business call. W. H. Ormsby of the N. P. freight department, was in the city yesterday in the interests of his road. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jacobs of Seattle were in the city yesterday and quartered at the Occident. Geo. H. Harris of Portland was a business visitor in Astoria yesterday. W. C. Bishop of Portland spent the day in this city yesterday and was domiciled at the Occident. H. BRAINS DASHED OUT BY A FALLING BLOCK

SECOND MATE EMIL HOLZ OF THE SCHOONER LUZON INSTANTLY KILLED.

Yesterday morning at 8:40 o'clock, as the bar tug Wallula approached the four-masted schooner Luzon, Capt. N. P. Benson, lying in the upper city channel, and took her in tow for the open sea, laden with 600,000 feet of lumber, from Stella and bound for San Pedro, the officers and crew were busy fishing the anchor, which work was done by a pendant tackle made fast to the foremast-head and which was served through a heavy three-sheaved block, the whole being a stout and ponderous lot of stuff. Without any warning whatever, the gear aloft carried away and the massive block crashed down, catching Second Mate Emil Holz, of the Luzon, squarely on the crown of his head, crushing it like an egg-shell and killing him on the instant.

The body of the mate was at once brought ashore and turned over to County Coroner J. A. Gilbaugh, for the necessary legal inquiry into the sad death of the man, and that was prosecuted later in the day, when a jury, consisting of Captains C. S. Gunderson, H. A. Matthews, J. H. Harriman, M. D. Staples and Messrs. John Day and Thomas Markham, upon due summons, sat upon the case and made the proper investigation, rendering a verdict in the following terms:

"We, the undersigned, sworn to inquire into the cause of the death of Emil Holz, find that he came to his death on board the schooner Luzon, while that vessel was being towed to sea; that the fish tackle parted, letting the upper block down and striking the said Holz, crushing in his skull, and killing him instantly; that he was on the forward part of the vessel of his own choice, as his proper place, at that time, was aft; that it was an unavoidable accident, and that we find no one to blame therefore."

Captain Benson, of the Luzon, says that this is the first time he has been overtaken by any such accident in the 35 years he has served as master and man, on the high seas, and he deeply regrets the dreadful accident. The schooner will probably sail this morning.

Mr. Holz was a member of the Aberdeen Aerie of Eagles in good standing, and that lodge has been communicated with by Coroner Gilbaugh, and an answer was received last evening, asking that Astoria Aerie No. 17 take care of the obsequies, and that Aerie, No. 24 of Aberdeen, would cover all expense. Mr. Holz was about 35 years of age, and unmarried and bore an excellent reputation.

Mrs. Tansley, wife of the first mate of the Luzon, arrived in this city yesterday morning from the East, to see her husband, and just managed to meet and greet him, prior to his departure for the lower coast of California, whither she will now have to follow him, a circumstance full of disappointment for them both.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE BOYS OF COMPANY B"

Paul Gilmore was at the Byers last night in his new offering, "The Boys of Company B." People go to see Paul Gilmore to see Paul Gilmore primarily, hence in considering his annual visit the play is not the thing. Those who like Paul Gilmore—and they are legion—like to see and like to hear him because he is Paul Gilmore, and all the masculine jealousy in the country doesn't alter the fact that Paul Gilmore is uncommonly good-looking and good to look at. He is downright handsome. And he's big, and he's boyish, and he's sincere and unaffected, and he has a way of looking one straight in the eyes off stage as well as on that makes him a genuine likable fellow, a fact which all the masculine jealousy extant doesn't alter. Masculine jealousy—plenty of it. If you want to know, listen to the answer a woman gets when she says that this same Paul Gilmore is handsome or that it's a pity ordinary men don't know to make love as he does. Still that breaking idols and tearing tradition to tatters—men are never jealous of another man, particularly if he happens to be good-looking.

This Tony Allen played by Mr. Gilmore is the kind of a fellow to make one like him all the way through. Cheery, debonnaire, a good friend, a good sweetheart, determined to have what he wants and when he wants it, he is so absolutely sure of the wisdom of his own decision that he brings everybody else to the same viewpoint. It's a part which fits the Gilmore personality as a glove the hand, and he has never been more pleasingly seen than last night—Fort Worth, Texas, Star.

At the Astoria Theatre Sunday night.
